

Legend lives on

Jazz festival draws music lovers to Norfolk Island

NORFOLK'S whispering pines will echo to the brassy tones of living national treasure Don Burrows when the island's eighth annual Jazz in The Pines Festival takes place December 7-11 this year.

Set among spectacular island scenery, the finger-snapping, feel-good week of swing, funk and blues will also see Melbourne group The Syncopators deliver the class that won them this year's classic jazz award at the Melbourne International Jazz Festival.

Former Norfolk Islander Rick Robertson and the Eon Beats will be performing with sassy vocalist Evelyn Duprai, and the Kevin Hunt Trio with crooner Johnny Nicol, giving the pick of Australia's east coast jazz and blues talent.

An added bonus will be a "Stop, Look and Listen" exhibition of photographs taken by the multi-talented Mr Burrows over a lifetime of travel and jazz-playing.

"Jazz fans have been coming to Norfolk Island for the past seven years to enjoy this world-class music festival, and they could not be picking a better time to be here with an outstanding festival line-up and great holiday deals on offer," Norfolk Island Tourism general manager Terry Watson said.

"Our famous pine trees and Kingston's Georgian architecture provide a wonderful setting for musical events, and jazz lovers can look forward to mixing world-standard entertainment with a range of fun activities on our small slice of Pacific paradise."

Jazz lovers are being offered a special package that includes return airfares from Sydney, Melbourne, Newcastle or Brisbane, seven nights' twin-share accommodation, seven-day car hire (insurance and petrol extra), entry to the Don Burrows photo exhibition, entry to all concerts, a welcome drink at each venue, a souvenir festival lanyard and program.

NATIONAL TREASURE: Jazz musician Don Burrows.

PHOTO: CONTRIBUTED

Packages are available from $1630, including tax, per person from Brisbane.

Bookings and information are available from Oxley

Travel.

Phone 1800 671 546 or email holidays@oxleytravel.com.au.

For further information about Norfolk Island visit www.norfolkisland.com.au